

License to Publish

Manuscript Number		Journal Name (the “Journal”)
Article Title (the “Title”)
Authors (the “Author(s)”) (Please list all authors on a new sheet if necessary)

The Japanese Proteomics Society (the “Society”) will consider publishing the Article in the Journal pursuant to the terms below.

The Authors grant to the Society the right and a worldwide, irrevocable license to:

- 1) Publish, disseminate, copy, display, store, commercially exploit and otherwise use the Article, including any supplementary material, in all forms and all media (now or at any future time);
- 2) Create any translations, extracts or derivative works based on the Article and exercise all of the rights set forth in (1) in any such translations, extracts or derivatives; and
- 3) Sublicense others to do all or any of (1) and (2).

Terms

The Authors warrant that:

- (a) The Author signing this Agreement has been authorized by all the Authors to enter into this Agreement.
- (b) The Article is original and is not under consideration for publication in any other journal.
- (c) The Author(s) are the sole Author(s) and sole owners of the copyright in the Article, and the Article does not infringe on existing copyright or other third-party rights. If material from other sources is included in the Article, then appropriate permissions have been obtained and are attached to this license.
- (d) Due care has been taken with the preparation of the Article to ensure its integrity, that the facts presented are true and accurate, and that nothing in the Article is obscene, defamatory or libellous or violates any right of privacy.

This Agreement shall be interpreted and governed in accordance with the laws of Japan.

The Society will license the Article to users under a Creative Commons license. Please mark if you accept the license.

- CC BY (Attribution) license. This license lets others distribute, remix, tweak, and build upon the Article, even commercially, provided the original source and Authors are credited (see <http://creativecommons.org/licenses/by/4.0/>)

Signed (for and behalf of the Authors)
 Please print name
 Address
 Date

Japanese Proteomics Society. jpdm@jhupo.org

Notes for Author(s) on re-use, copyright and the license to publish

As an aid to authors of the journal, we provide brief details about author rights and Creative Commons licenses. This information does not constitute legal advice.

Authors retain the copyright in their Article and grant the Society a license to publish, print, distribute and otherwise use the Article. Authors and all other users must still appropriately acknowledge the published Article in the journal when the Article is reproduced in whole or in part.

Authors retain many (non-exclusive) rights, such as reproducing their Article in course materials, books or book chapters; posting copies of the Article on institutional or other websites; and reusing tables, figures and supplementary material from the Article. In all cases, the user must provide appropriate attribution by acknowledging the original Article in the journal.

We encourage Authors to deposit their Article in relevant institutional repositories and other public repositories.

The Creative Commons website (creativecommons.org) contains detailed information about users' rights regarding your article. We summarize these below:

Attribution 4.0 International (CC BY 4.0)

Users free to:

- Share – copy and redistribute the material in any medium or format
- Adapt – remix, transform, and build upon the material for any purpose, even commercially.

You cannot revoke these freedoms as long as you follow the license terms.

Under the following terms:

- Attribution – Users must give appropriate credit, provide a link to the license, and indicate if changes were made. Users may do so in any reasonable manner, but not in any way that suggests that the Authors endorse the users or their use.
- No additional restrictions – Users may not apply legal terms or technological measures that legally restrict others from doing anything that the license permits.

Note there are also exceptions, limitations and various other details to all the licenses that are available on the Creative Commons website (<https://creativecommons.org/licenses/>).